Virtuaverse Release Date Has Been Announced!

For those interested in cyberpunk, Theta Division, the team behind the indie point and click cyberpunk game Virtuaverse, has just announced a release date of May 12th 2020. With a Blade Runner Esque landscape, old school retro gaming, and Master Boot Record providing the soundtrack, you better believe we're all excited over here. Our roaming reporter Vosto Vlad had some time to catch up with the master himself to discuss his involvement with such an ambitious project.

Dennis: Something something about Sam Sparro who hails from Sydney Australia.

Weather (a2)

So....after a mild spell last week, we've now been slapped with an arctic storm here in the NE of NA. I'm not sure how the rest of you are faring, but it's times like this that you must load up your favourite synthwave playlist, and imagine palm trees, sunsets, beaches, warm rainy cities. Or...load up some chiptunes, launch your PS4/Xbox or PC, and hunker down for a great gaming session.

Dennis: LA/houston band Haunter (if you like Churches, you'll like this) has a new track. This is "Love you Better", here on NFM

Now, Polish artist Kimono just dropped his new EP called "Night Limbo". 4 tracks of great synthy atmospheric music. And, it just so happens one of the tracks features the narration of our very own KZL.

Here's the track. This is called "Radicalm" by Kimono, featuring the voice of Kaarin Zoe Lee, here..on NightrideFM
